

SREA To Build Mirror Motown In China

Score One Inc. (SREA)

$0.14

SREA ventures to Build a mirror of Detroit's "Motown" in China. The facility will be used as a motor exhibition center for domestic and international motor shows, showrooms of major China automobile, auto's parts and peripherals manufactures. This is huge! Get on SREA Tuesday!

i found it better than "lost skeleton of cadavra".
Thank God it wasn't Rosie O'Donnel.
Can someone who speaks Hollandaise translate for us Americans?
Telling that Mrs Steenhoek from Dubuque that her pearls look real nice and then grinning like a homunculus until the next commercial break is not considered artistic.
I withdraw my objection to his objection.
I'm sure there's a name for it.
Nevermind; any mefites in a position to know would still be recovering from heart attacks at this point.
But to be honest, he never needed very much encouragement.
"So I noticed that we don't have any battery powered light backups between floors four and ground.
that have to conform to certain templates or at least bureaucratic rules.
I'm guessing enough units failed that the output voltage dropped enough to down every machine in the data center.
Falling into the splits?
They shudder alright, but it's invariably the adults reactions that end up putting them off.
How many new people do you meet every day?
This belongs at Wigstock, it's that great.
Everybody here loved the act.
SNL and Mad are roller-coaster rides in terms of quality, up one year and down the next.
It's debating fpp-worthiness that belongs in the gray.
Oh, well, that's not really .
Looking at the photo from the ctv.
Just watch any of his best moments, dealing with the hyperactive contestants, or the complete idiots who fuckup their way into lucking out and winning the car.
I don't think he ever had a comedy special longer than half an hour before he got his own show.
This is like praising Kafka for giving up writing to work on his insurance adjusting.
The make or break is gonna be if the machine lets him do his own thing.
I could understand saying that a Hollywood actress, etc.
In it's previous life, it was a power station, and it is quite beautiful.
Could be what you're lookin' for let's say, falls off the back of a truck.
Yes, which is why real systems have hysteresis built in.
how have I not seen this stuff before?
Been waiting for the Screaming Forehead for a couple years.
Clark: Nervous or excited?
Now personally, I'd have given the Price Is Right job to Bob Saget, but only if he worked blue.
This belongs at Wigstock, it's that great.
However as I have an unpleasantly active imagination, I came up with a couple of situations that it wouldn't be enough, and I asked about them.
I'm right on board with the rest of your comment though.
I'm right on board with the rest of your comment though.
She needs to be arrested.
Are you trying to browse the web, or perhaps read your email?
Just fucking BRILLIANT.
I swear I can hear the fall of western civilization.
They completely ignored me.
You can't tell me Bob Barker wasn't a stand-up comedian who practiced an art for himself all on his own.
one slight comment so quick it's easy to miss?
Right or wrong, we had a deal.
He will have chances to be funny, I'm sure.
I was grinning through the whole thing.
Well, that's what facebook is, except you don't have to get your friends to manu ally give you access.

All the books, magazines etc.
" and shake themselves around.
Lost Skeleton is a personal favorite.
Maybe threshing machines?
Must be doing something right to go from one to the other is such a relatively s hort time.
Westchester, NY to Phillips Exeter, to Harvard.
I think this is upward momentum.
In my professional opinion, that is a serious risk.
He also has that middle America charm a show needs when you're guessing the pric e of dish soap.
was it good dancing, or good acrobatics, or good fitness?
Meanwhile, you stalk around - messaging and trying to hook up with befriend othe rs.
Forget you read this.
Falling into the splits?
Props to the SCOTUS who made this possible!
I just wasted a bunch of time watching Tales From the Pub.
This is a longstanding power, and has been held up by the Supreme Court as Const itutional.
Just watch any of his best moments, dealing with the hyperactive contestants, or the complete idiots who fuckup their way into lucking out and winning the car.
Or is there something else i'm not quite getting?
how have I not seen this stuff before?
Actually, as soon as I hit post I realized Gottfried did a stint on Hollywood Sq uares.
I'm just here for the food.
I grabbed a thai chili while sitting in the cart.
Just fucking BRILLIANT.
This is on the list of things I can confidently say I will NEVER find myself doi ng.
Famous, they certainly can.
i was almost at ground floor so it was not scary.
I wonder how many people in the biz would say he's "sold out"?
Westchester, NY to Phillips Exeter, to Harvard.
there were a few places where i disagreed with some of the filmmaking choices, a nd some places where it lagged, but overall, it was a blast.
"BODJW Gold Edition" is full enough of adware as it is.
They don't seem to be different species of fae.
They shudder alright, but it's invariably the adults reactions that end up putti ng them off.
Carey's getting a TV show that will never be canceled and will easily be more re membered and iconic than the sitcom he had on ABC.
I saw a couple of light strobes, but I don't really think that would be conducti ve to helping people see where they were going.
I think he got a lot of juice in his nose, and I honestly thought his poor littl e head was going to explode.
Thanks to the magic of monitor resolution and line breaks, for a quick second my mind went to a completely different place there.
I have no idea why, but that is the image that popped in my head when I was look ing at these.
Who gives a damn about Kansas anyway?
Everyone loves a mystery or two.
Nevermind; any mefites in a position to know would still be recovering from hear t attacks at this point.
This could go on for hours.
The ones who don't care much work the stand-up circuit long enough to get some o ther job, and that's it for their stand-up career.
This is like praising Kafka for giving up writing to work on his insurance adjus ting.

Because success isn't measured in how impossible it will be for the network to get rid of you.

It's the coordination between the two of them, their athleticism, the enjoyment clear on both their faces, and the fact that they are out, out, out and looking good doing it.

He'd put it in his mouth and make the funny face.

With flywheels, you get seconds of power in which everything has to go right.

Big companies with lots and lots of money sometimes do really stupid things.

Why is it the greatest deliberative body in the world?

He did get called over to Johnny's desk, which is worth something.

Bobcat Goldthwait, on his comedy cd "I Don't Mean to Insult You", recounts how he once got fired from Hollywood Squares.

I have no idea whether copying a business plan is actionable as an intellectual property suit, but if it were, McDonalds might be the only fast-food chain on the planet.

My mom opened a bulk container of parmesan cheese she had in the cart and started feeding it to me.

Oh, well, that's not really .

Haikus made out of pictures of gravestones, being plastered around New York City by a mysterious artist named Nick Beef.

They completely ignored me.

Everything Is Under Control.

The make or break is gonna be if the machine lets him do his own thing.

that have to conform to certain templates or at least bureaucratic rules.

and the law says, bust a deal, face the wheel.

Well, don't just stand there looking dumb.

Nevermind; any mofites in a position to know would still be recovering from heart attacks at this point.

Unlike most of the others on the team, who got pushed into it because every department needed someone to volunteer, I actually have a bit of background in risk assessment.

At least Drew's funny.

Because success isn't measured in how impossible it will be for the network to get rid of you.

I have no problem with someone saying they dislike something, and I equally have no problem with someone saying they dislike it even if most people seem to love it.

They completely ignored me.

I think he got a lot of juice in his nose, and I honestly thought his poor little head was going to explode.

I'd like to see him try.

Are you trying to browse the web, or perhaps read your email?

"BODJW Gold Edition" is full enough of adware as it is.

employers, colleagues, ex partners, psychos, nosey acquaintances etc would have a hard time finding them without more specific information identifying one out of a million Joes or Marys.

Time will tell I guess, but I think it may be a good choice.

You'd be right if they were truly "bidding" - offering to pay for the item - but they aren't.

His show was consistently one of the most queer-friendly things in prime time.

I'm not sure this makes me feel better about myself, but it's certainly damn funny.

Had to watch the clip again.

Haikus made out of pictures of gravestones, being plastered around New York City by a mysterious artist named Nick Beef.

it's subtitled "Sublymonal messaging hits its target demographic.

Everybody here loved the act.

It's like you all are conspiring against me to waste as much of my valuable time as possible!

My mom opened a bulk container of parmesan cheese she had in the cart and started feeding it to me.

Lost in transit's what I'm sayin'.

Carey loves Midwestern cornfed Americans without the ugly chip-on-the-shoulder way that country music, or the Blue Collar Comedy Tour, do.

How have I not seen this stuff before?

The two stairwells are lit by fluorescent lights.

Actually, as soon as I hit post I realized Gottfried did a stint on Hollywood Squares.

It's like you all are conspiring against me to waste as much of my valuable time as possible!

Now there's a great analogy.

That have to conform to certain templates or at least bureaucratic rules.

Just look at Howie Mandel.

Larry Blamire, new things maker out of ones we all remember extraordinaire, and stiff dialogue dynamo is back in bad form with his latest offering, The Trail of The Screaming Forehead.

I'm sure there's a name for it.

I think this is the crux of it, really.

Now personally, I'd have given the Price Is Right job to Bob Saget, but only if he worked blue.

It's like you all are conspiring against me to waste as much of my valuable time as possible!

Think you had a definite article go AWOL on you there.

It's like a burnout haven for TV hosts.

You'd be right if they were truly "bidding" - offering to pay for the item - but they aren't.

Dude hosts the worst game show ever.

Larry Blamire, new things maker out of ones we all remember extraordinaire, and stiff dialogue dynamo is back in bad form with his latest offering, The Trail of The Screaming Forehead.

Because the people who coined that title don't know about Mathowie, Jessamyn and Cortex.

I know how to use Google or Wikipedia if I want to learn more.

I think he'll do well with the Price is Right.

At least two of those were clearly limes.

Otoh, it could be great.

To be honest, I'm amazed no one thought of this before.

I could understand saying that a Hollywood actress, etc.

Who gives a damn about Kansas anyway?

I'm normally not one to snark, but "guy makes up fake name and posts stickers around town" isn't really BOTW.

I've been watching this.

I think he got a lot of juice in his nose, and I honestly thought his poor little head was going to explode.

And that link tells us exactly where "Nick Beef" came from, so not really mysterious there, either.

But offering apologies that he'll still have chances to be funny in the interstices of his job only proves my point.

Most are in Dutch, but there are some English ones as well.

If Carey has a sick day, I'll step in.

You can leave message with people.

Most are in Dutch, but there are some English ones as well.

This belongs at Wigstock, it's that great.

My scenario is not totally unrealistic.

I'm all for bringing Bush to justice, but Harriet Miers refused a Congressional subpoena.

Interesting, to say the least.

Everything Is Under Control.

There are only so many twins in Greenwich, CT.

Well, don't just stand there looking dumb.

This could go on for hours.

If Carey has a sick day, I'll step in.

Thank you for the post, fungible.

I have no problem with someone saying they dislike something, and I equally have no problem with someone saying they dislike it even if most people seem to love it.

I don't know what they had to remove to be able to do those splits, but that was Chuck-Norris-Approved Fully-Ass-Kicking.

You can leave message with people.

Why is it the greatest deliberative body in the world?

I'm sure there's a name for it.

I have no idea why, but that is the image that popped in my head when I was looking at these.

In fact I'd be willing to wager that these same self-styled "craigslist" elves who are allegedly fixing the problem may have been the very ones to create it in the first place.

It's just a matter of whether or not it will be the little girl's or the interloper's.

At least Drew's funny.

I can't spell "cat," but if you're typing it on a computer, use the built-in spellcheck.

There are several different types of contempt of Congress.

Also, a college email address, while not a panacea, weeds out the worst kind of idiot you see in youtube comments.

so that one failing wouldn't result in a section of racks dying.

I have no idea why, but that is the image that popped in my head when I was looking at these.

It's about a nanosecond away from jumping the shark Perez Hilton.

That's quite a wide window for error, don't you think?

It's like a burnout haven for TV hosts.

But, heck those kids are cute!

Carey loves Midwestern cornfed Americans without the ugly chip-on-the-shoulder way that country music, or the Blue Collar Comedy Tour, do.

I think this is upward momentum.

so I'm dumb in a "clued into an advertising meme" sorta way.

A guess costs them nothing, so it doesn't represent a willingness to pay, and doesn't reflect a "real" market value.

But if, a month in, he's being told back stage to "cut out the lame jokes and make with the nice small talk" or some such shit it's going to be hell for him, regardless.

But to be honest, he never needed very much encouragement.

I sometimes wish I was a porn producer.

I'd like to see him try.

WTF are you yammering on about?

I have no idea what good those websites provide besides that.

Even the President arrested?

I can't get my mail since I opened a file sent to me from the support robot.

Carey's getting a TV show that will never be canceled and will easily be more remembered and iconic than the sitcom he had on ABC.

Lost in transit's what I'm sayin'.

Now there's a great analogy.

", but that's not really an answer.

i was almost at ground floor so it was not scary.

Because success isn't measured in how impossible it will be for the network to get rid of you.

It's like a mini-internet on the internet, right?

You can leave message with people.

Love the post and tone.

Looking at the photo from the ctv.

How is the hamster supposed to reach the peddles?

In it's previous life, it was a power station, and it is quite beautiful.

Meanwhile, you stalk around - messaging and trying to hook up with befriend others.

And that link tells us exactly where "Nick Beef" came from, so not really mysterious there, either.

The load is carried by an inverter, which is driven by the combination of a rectifier or the battery packs.

"BODJW Gold Edition" is full enough of adware as it is.

They are having meetings with Ari Emmanuel, a.

I can see not getting the appeal of Carey, either the man or his schtick, but his show was often brilliant not the least because of the excellent cast.

Falling into the splits?

You need to explain the rules, be happy and keep the show going when the contestant wants to stop and say hello to everyone back home.

The downside to this, I have found, is that now he enjoys eating exotic foods - Sushi for instance.

Where are folks getting "drag show" out of this?

After two chews, I became aware of an unpleasant sensation and spat it out.